Fernando Alcántar, M.A. is the Director of Leadership Development for Young People for the California-Pacific Conference of The UMC. With a Bachelors in Psychology and a Masters in Organizational Leadership, he specializes in developing emergent leaders in the faith community.

In a two part training, we will cover topics of Personal Leadership Development & Generational Specific Ministry.

PERSONAL LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT: Explore the essence of your identity wrestling with the question “Who am I?”, and its repercussions on decision, influences, & vocation. Also discover the natural gifting already existing inside of you and magnify it into powerful strengths of service.

GENERATIONAL SPECIFIC MINISTRY: Learn about the generational differences between Baby Boomers, Gen X, Millennial (Gen Y), and how to strategically design modern-day youth ministry. Plus learn about the Psychological make up of emergent leaders and their natural development.
